DAY SPENT AT HARFORD

Veterans Visit the Soldiers' Orphan School at That Place. WERE ENTERTAINED ROYALLY Programme of the Exercises That Were Conducted During the Day—What an Old Veteran Says of the School and Its Management.

At 9 o'clock yesterday morning about forty Grand Army men, mostly from Griffin post, No. 139, boarded the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western train at Scranton for the Soldiers' Orphan school, near Harford, for the purpose of attending the annual examination exercises.

After a delightful trip of an hour and a half the party arrived at Kingsley's Station, from which point they were to be conveyed by wagons to the school. When they entered the school they found that, including the wives and daughters of the party, the number had grown to over sixty. So the ladies and veterans who were unable to walk were put in the wagons and the rest of the veterans started out in army style to go to school.

After a delightful walk of about forty minutes they reached the school, their coming being heralded in true military style with cannon booming and band playing. The boys and girls of the school, in uniform, were drawn up in double ranks on either side of the street and as the veterans marched through the children gave a military salute, after which the visitors were escorted by the children to the chapel, where, after prayer by Rev. Mr. Light they were entertained most delightfully with songs and recitations for a short time, and then invited to partake of a most appetizing dinner.

Entertainment of the Visitors. Manager J. M. Clark and his good wife were untiring in their attentions and the only regret of the visitors was that all Scrantonians could not be there to see what the Keystone state is doing for the soldiers' orphans.

Last evening they were treated to a most elaborate entertainment by the children. Colonel McGee, of the E. H. Ripple, of the Soldiers' Orphan schools commissioners, with their wives, were of the party, and to this commission the whole state is under obligation for the very efficient status of these schools, for every member of the board seems to take a deep personal interest in these "wards of the state."

In a communication to The Tribune last night one of the visitors said: "This is my first visit to one of these schools, but I promise it shall not be my last if I have my health. It would do your heart good to see the children of whom this school has 202—116 boys and 86 girls—their ages ranging from 6 to 16 years. I cannot close without calling attention to the incalculable good that is being done to the little ones who have been bereft of their fathers or mothers, or both parents. Of all these 202 children I cannot see of an unhappy or ill-looking one, and all are comfortably dressed. I hope the day is not far distant when we may have similar schools for all orphaned children."

Programme of the Day. The following list of the programme that was rendered during the day:

Remains of the Late Thomas J. Heffron Interred Yesterday. From his late home on Prospect avenue the remains of Thomas J. Heffron were borne yesterday to St. Peter's cathedral where, at 9 o'clock, a high mass of requiem was begun by Rev. Mr. J. Millane. The celebrant delivered a sermon in which he referred to the upright life of the deceased and offered consoling sympathy to the friends. Many beautiful floral tributes were bestowed. The pall-bearers were William Choherty, James Fleming, J. J. O'Boyle, T. J. Foley, Michael Danahy, Peter Ward, the flower-beard carriers John Kelley, M. J. May and Peter Merrick. Interment was made in Hyde Park Catholic cemetery. His first wedding. Alderman W. S. Millar yesterday united in marriage William J. Williams and Miss Mary J. Hopkins, of Bellevue. This was the first occasion upon which a bride and bridegroom had graced the handsomely-fitted court room, and the alderman delivered a neat little speech in which he congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Williams, and wished them long life, happiness and prosperity. Thomas J. Jordan, the alderman's confidential clerk, gave away the bride in a most natural manner. Watch repairing done by Turnquest, the Jeweler, 205 Wash. ave. Piano for Sale. HE IS AFTER ARTHUR.

Attorney D. B. Replegie Wants Very Big Damages. Arthur Frothingham, the genial manager, and all around man of enterprise, is in trouble. A short time ago he and Attorney D. B. Replegie had some trouble in aldermanic courts and it has terminated in a damage suit of $10,000 being brought against Mr. Frothingham by the attorney.

Attorney C. W. Dawson represents Mr. Replegie in the suit which was entered yesterday in the office of Prothonotary Pryor. The declaration states that on May 8, Mr. Frothingham appeared before Alderman W. S. Millar, of the Eighth ward, and swore out a warrant for the arrest of Attorney Replegie for the alleged embezzlement of $15.

The plaintiff was forty-three hours under arrest and still Mr. Frothingham did not appear to substantiate the information he swore to in getting out the warrant. There are many, Mr. Replegie thinks, who believe that the story is true and he feels that not less than $10,000 is a fair amount for the injury that his fair name and reputation have sustained.

LIVELY SOCIAL SESSION.

Held by Members of the Bicycle Club at the Washington Avenue Home. The members of the Scranton Bicycle Club last night held one of the most unique and highly exhilarating social sessions of the season. The fun was fast, furious and of the all-the-time variety, and kept the gathering in a merry mood throughout the evening.

Dolph B. Atherton, president of the club, Thomas Price and M. W. Berry presided over the merry-making. They sat on a raised platform and behind a "mock bar" which bore the inscription: "THIS IS THE BAR; GUSTAS MEATED OUT HEAR." The amusement included automatic piano music by two sons of Italy, who, when called upon by the president, were mentioned as Signors Maccaroni and Spaghettti.

None present escaped lines of from Dolph to half a dollar. The president, even, who responded to the request to sing "Swim Out O'Grady," was obliged to divulge the penalty limit. Captain Gilmore read "How Casey Slugged the Ball" and was obliged to relieve himself of a quarter for pertrading the offense. Among others fined and the reasons were the following: Dr. Gibbs, for saving the life of a man; Little Billie Pierce, for making false statements; F. M. Vandling, for not promptly responding to a request to state "why the carriers were watched, or, who is to be the next postmaster." Harry Plunger Newman was forced to repeat his Kirrness solo dance with variations adapted from the movements of an artist seen recently in the city; Little Billie Pierce, for 50 cents for reciting a German dialect story in an accentually Hibernian, and later figured in a mock trial for conduct unbecoming a gentleman. Refreshments were served during the evening.

HOW ABOUT THE WEATHER?

Dolph Atherton's Signals Will Give the Information. Secretary D. B. Atherton, of the board of trade, has been successful in arranging with the weather bureau of the department of agriculture for the establishment of a service weather signal flag to be displayed at the court house. A few days ago Mr. Atherton wrote the bureau authorities upon the matter asking whether such an arrangement could be made to display the signals on a public building, under the auspices of the board of trade, and pointing out that Scranton had not the advantages possessed by cities of a similar size. Mr. Atherton offered to give the matter his personal attention if the application was granted. Yesterday a courteous reply was received, stating that if the board of trade were ready to begin the display at once, flags would be mailed from the office, and the necessary instructions and telegrams forwarded from time to time. In the course of a few days the necessary arrangements will be complete and the service established. The flags will be hoisted on the flag-pole above the Washington-avenue entrance to the court house, and will be changed from time to time in accordance with the telegrams from the weather bureau. Mr. Atherton will make ample arrangements for the changing of flags as soon as the telegrams are received. In order that the public may be acquainted with the various signs of the flags, small cards will be printed, similar in design to the cards announcing the location of fire-alarm boxes. TRACK WILL BE MOVED

Ninth, Robinson and Jackson Streets Can Now Be Paved. RESULT OF THE CONFERENCE Vice President Clark, of the Traction Company, Reported That His Company Was Willing to Move the Rails from the Center of Street.

There is a bright prospect that before winter rolls around again Scranton will have a paved thoroughfare all the way from the central city to Main avenue, West Side. The project has been agitated and discussed for the way was the track and switch of the Traction company, which runs along the extreme easterly side of Robinson street. Until that track was moved to the center of the thoroughfare nothing could be done towards paving and for a time the trolley company refused to move its track as it had become owner by purchase of the land occupied by its rails before Robinson street was opened to give an easy grade from Lackawanna to Main avenue.

Many Conferences Held. Many conferences were held between the Traction company officers and members of the West Side board of trade, who had the paving project in charge, but the company could not be induced to alter its resolution not to move the track. Another conference was held yesterday afternoon between Vice President Clark and Manager J. R. Beitem, of the Traction company. Select Councilman P. F. McCann, Common Councilman P. J. Neils, T. F. Mason and A. M. Morse, of the Board of trade, and City Engineer Joseph Phillips.

This conference proved most satisfactory. Mr. Clark agreed to have the track of his company moved to the center of Robinson street, and will deed to the city the land on which the track is now laid. The papers making the transfer of the land will be executed within a few days. The members of the West Side board of trade are quite jubilant over the favorable outcome of the long agitation.

PAVEMENT TO BE MADE.

Stone blocks are already on the ground for paving West Lackawanna avenue, between the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western crossing and Ninth street, and work on the improvement will begin within a few weeks. Property owners on Ninth, Robinson and Jackson streets have agreed to lay a stone block roadway fronting their properties, and as soon as the track is moved there will be a substantial pavement laid from the city to Main avenue, and the unsightly and dangerous mud holes of Robinson street will be things of the past.

ANOTHER MINE FATALITY.

John Burnett Instantly Killed in No. 1 Shaft at Storrs Colliery. John Burnett, a miner in shaft No. 1 of the Storrs mines, was instantly killed yesterday morning by a fall of roof. He was working in the lower half of the fourteen-foot vein, which is divided by a layer of shale from six inches to two feet thick, the upper half being already worked. Mr. Burnett was working in the lower half when this roof fell, killing him instantly. He was then conveyed to his home in Throop. He was about 40 years of age and is survived by a wife and family.

FUNERAL OF MARK NEWELL.

Hundreds of Friends Followed Remains to the Grave. Hundreds of friends gathered at the late residence of Mark Newell in Green's place yesterday morning to pay their tribute of respect to the memory of the man whose good qualities they had admired so much in life. The flags on No. 4 school building, of which he was janitor, and on St. John's Total Abstinence hall, in the erection of which he took an important part, were flown at half mast. At the school building the scholars were dismissed at 10 o'clock and marched to the residence, where they viewed the remains. The little ones were followed by the members of St. John's Father Mathew society and the Irish Catholic Beneficial union, of both of which organizations he was a valued member. At the head of the casket in which the remains reposed was a beautiful floral piece, "Gates Ajar," sent by the teachers of No. 4 school. There was also a pillow inscribed "Father" and many other floral emblems. At 10 o'clock the remains were taken to the grave.
